

Bruce Conte and Tower Of Power

Conte, a West Coast native, honed his skills playing the local clubs of San Francisco. A lucky break came in the early '70's when his band landed the opener for hometown heroes, Tower of Power, at the legendary Fillmore. Soon after, TOP recruited Bruce resulting in a seven-year relationship including eight recordings for the young guitarist.

You'll find Bruce's signature licks on hits like "What Is Hip" and "Squib Cakes". In addition, he was a featured songwriter for Tower Of Power with songs like "Somewhere Down the Road" (We Came to Play), "It Can Never Be the Same" (Urban Renewal) and "Just Another Day" (Tower of Power).
